FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials of the House of Representatives estimated savings for members, had the proposal been in effect for the current session, at $4,528,604 based on:

salaries of $31,351, per diem of $5,320 (seventy session days @ $76 per day),
 $1,770 mileage ($93 per week), $25,000 legislative assistant salary, and $9,600 per member account

Total savings would be $73,042 per member x 62 members = $4,528,604.

Officials noted the possibility of savings for House administrative staff, printing costs, and telecommunications and data processing expenses.

They also noted that there could be costs for capital improvements (e.g. reconfiguring office space in the Capitol).

The ninety-seventh general assembly would begin in January of 2013; therefore, there would be no costs or savings in the years shown on the normal fiscal note.

Secretary of State officials stated that advertisement costs for the proposal would be $3,684 per column inch for three printings of the text of the proposal, the introduction, fiscal note summary, and affidavit. The proposal would be on the ballot for the November 2004 general election.

DESCRIPTION

This proposal would, beginning with the ninety-seventh general assembly, reduce the size of the House of Representatives from one-hundred and sixty three (163) members to one-hundred and one (101) members.

This legislation is not federally mandated, would not duplicate any other program and would not require additional capital improvements or rental space. This proposal would not affect Total State Revenue.
